Senior Management Change

The Director of Wesfarmers' Industrial Divisions, Keith Gordon, is leaving the company to become Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer of Emeco Holdings Limited.

Wesfarmers Managing Director Richard Goyder congratulated Mr Gordon on his appointment.

"I am sorry to be losing a very talented colleague who has made a considerable contribution to Wesfarmers in a variety of roles," he said.

"But I fully understand his decision to take this career enhancing opportunity by moving to another level of management.

"Keith has been a valued senior executive since we worked together at Wesfarmers Landmark, followed by his three years running the Chemicals and Fertilisers division, then as leader of the Coles integration team before taking up his present position in July last year."

Mr Gordon said his 11 years at Wesfarmers had been very stimulating and satisfying from both a professional and personal perspective.

"It's a great company which provides wonderful opportunities to its people to develop through a range of challenging roles in its very diversified businesses," he said.

Mr Goyder said permanent arrangements regarding the oversight of the businesses currently reporting to Mr Gordon would be announced in due course.
